PARENT-STUDENT HANDBOOK AGREEMENT

Of the many goals we maintain at NVCA, two stand out as critical to our culture — the safety of our students and the respect they display to one another, their teachers, and their school. Both of these goals are advanced by establishing and maintaining policies and procedures that support a nurturing, but disciplined environment in which our students will grow in their studies and in their personal development. The NVCA Parent-Student Handbook contains the policies and procedures we believe provide that support. To ensure a shared understanding and commitment to these policies and procedures, we require NVCA parents to read the Handbook and confirm their willingness to abide by its contents. We ask the same of our students who are capable of reading and understanding the Handbook.

The Handbook is posted on the NVCA website <https://northvalleyca.org/parent-links/>. After you and your student have read the Handbook, please sign the statement below.

Thank you for your cooperation and for supporting the policies and procedures that provide the structure for a safe and nurturing culture at NVCA.
